Eastern student hurt in Amtrak collision

by Ted Gregory and The Associated Press

An Eastern student was injured Friday night in a train wreck involving an Amtrak passenger train and a parked freight train in the Chicago suburb of Harvey.

Freshman Psychology major Albert Brain, 23, of Glendale Heights was taken to Ingalls Memorial Hospital Friday night where he is being treated for a cerebral concussion and is in fair condition, a hospital spokesman said Sunday.

The crash occurred when the Amtrak train, travelling at about 65 miles per hour, slammed into a standing, 40-car freight train, killing two persons and injuring 44.

Also taken to the hospital were Amtrak engineer John Taksas, 65, and six other passengers.

All injured passengers except Taksas, who was in serious condition Sunday, are listed in either fair or good condition.

William Pugh of the National Transportation Safety Board heads the investigation into the cause of the wreck.

He said four teams were looking into separate aspects of the crash, which apparently resulted from a switching error.

"Apparently, the Amtrak train impacted at 65 miles an hour" shortly after Amtrak No. 352 carrying more than 200 persons including dozens of college students to Chicago was switched onto the same track as a parked southbound freight train.

On Saturday, Jerome Krohn, a National Transportation Safety Board rail safety inspector, said a switchman allegedly threw a switch prematurely, while George Biscan, superintendent of Illinois Central Gulf's Chicago division, said after the crash, "they technically weren't on the same track" but a switch had been thrown to connect the two sets of rails.

"The switch from track four to track three was turned in that direction," he said.

Pugh said damages totaled about $1.7 million.

The Illinois Central Gulf's commuter line passing through the crash area was expected to be operating again Sunday night but freight operations on the line might not resume until Monday, Pugh said.

Seven students enrolled in internship program

by Greg Ditman

The administrative internship program mentioned as an accomplishment by Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin in last week's "state of the university address" is currently in effect and running smoothly, the program director said Wednesday.

The administrative internship program has seven interns participating, Robert Barger said.

Barger said the program began this fall with the emphasis on giving women and minorities training in the administrative ranks.

"We need better representation of minorities and women in higher administration," he said. "Women and minorities can't get into the administration ranks if they don't have experience."

Barger also said women and minorities are not hired into higher level administration because there are so few of them in the faculty ranks.

The administration internship program consists of two stages, Barger said, with the first one in effect this semester.

He explained in stage one, the interns take courses of their own choosing to help them in the administrative field. They also spend some time each week in strategic administrative offices on campus and attend seminars to learn about the administrative operation of the university. The seminars cover such topics as budgeting, personnel, governance and public relations.

In the second stage of the program, which begins next semester, the interns are released from part or all of their regular duties. They then serve as an administrative intern in an appropriate office or department of the university, Barger said.

"Currently we have seven 'stage one' interns," Barger said. "President Marvin will be announcing the stage two interns shortly."

Barger said Marian Shuff of the secondary education and foundations program had the basic idea for the internship program. She still is an adviser for the program and helps find administrators to work with the interns. Shuff was unavailable Thursday for comment.

As director of the program, Barger said his job is to coordinate it and keep it running smoothly. Also, as chairman of the President's Affirmative Advisory Committee, he recommends people to join the program.

Barger said the administrative internship program should not be misunderstood as a substitute for real affirmative action in directly appointing women and minorities to administrative positions at Eastern.

Barger said that although the program puts emphasis on women and minorities, it is open to any staff member.

Those participating in the program are Jacqueline Jacobs and Kathlene Shank of the special education department, Coby Simerly of the home economics department, Frieda Stute of the sociology department, Norma Green of the physical education department, Francene Gilmer of Admissions, and Jo Barger of the Academic Advisement Center.

News earns All American award

by Laura Rzepka

For the fifth consecutive semester, the Eastern News has earned a top award in a national collegiate newspaper contest, this time with marks of distinction in all five possible categories.

The News won an All American rating in a contest sponsored by the Associated Collegiate Press.

It collected marks of distinction for its coverage and content, writing and editing, editorial leadership and opinion features, physical appearance and visual communication, and photography, art and use of graphics.

"This is the first time since we've been a daily that we received all five marks of distinction," Daniel Thornburgh, journalism department chairman, said Sunday.

The News has been a daily publication for five years, Thornburgh said.

It was judged with other daily newspapers from four-year colleges and universities by the National Scholastic Press Association and the ACP.

"We (the Eastern News) are comfortably above a first class rating," adviser Tom Hodges said.

Newspapers needed 3,800 points to earn a first class rating. The News earned 4,240.

This is the first year that the News has received a mark of distinction in photography, Thornburgh said.

"We have gotten better in photography because we have been paying more attention to it," Thornburgh said. "Hodges spent time with the photographers and we have had better reproduction because of (pressman) Mark Turk."

Hodges said, "I can't do anything directly except offer advice." But referring to himself, Hodges added, "I think having an ex-pro on the staff has helped."

Hodges has worked as a photographer for professional newspapers.

Judge Michael Sessler summarized the accomplishment by saying, "The Eastern News continues to be a leader among college dailies. It's amazing how you can maintain such good quality work in each area from issue to issue—many staffs can't even do that with a weekly!"

"I am looking forward to surpassing these accomplishments and by trying to get a Pacemaker Award," current News Editor Tom Keefe said.

A Pacemaker Award is given to the top five newspapers in each division, Hodges said.

Carter takes lead in early balloting

MIAMI — With two large blocks of votes still to be counted, President Carter held a statewide lead Sunday over Sen. Edward M. Kennedy in Florida's Democratic Party caucuses and Carter backers claimed victory in the first balloting of the 1980 presidential campaign.

But while Carter, whose campaign was supported by the political power of the White House, seemed certain to emerge with a majority of the elected delegates, Kennedy supporters called the Massachusetts senator's showing "one of the greatest political upsets of the century."

"A win is a win is a win," was the reaction of Evan Dohelle, chairman of the Carter-Mondale campaign committee. Still to be tallied were ballots for 188 delegates in populous Dade County, which includes Miami, and for 60 delegates in Palm Beach County.

Party officials said a final delegate count might not be available for several days.

The turnout in Dade, where it rained throughout the day, was disappointing and an unofficial poll of voters found a slim plurality saying they supported the Carter slate.

The voter survey found 1,727 saying they backed Carter, 1,672 supporting Kennedy, 688 for the labor slate, and 187 uncommitted or refusing to answer.

But ballot challenges could affect the result in the fight for Dade's 188 delegates.

At stake was the chance to draw first blood in the anticipated fight between Carter and Kennedy for the 1980 Democratic presidential nomination.

The 879 delegates elected Saturday will join 833 others, most of them appointed by officials backing the president, at a Democratic state convention in November at which the highlight will be a non-binding presidential preference poll.

Florida's delegation to the Democratic National Convention will be chosen in a primary March 11.

Results from 64 of the state's 67

(AP) News shorts

counties gave Carter 366 delegates, Kennedy 101, a slate supported by organized labor 19, and 27 uncommitted.

In addition, Kennedy seemed certain to pick up the 116 delegates from Broward County where he made his strongest showing.

Kennedy avoided personal involvement in the Florida contest.

Medics refused, elderly man dies

CHICAGO — "They were just in our way," said an Aurora policeman who refused to allow two striking paramedics to treat a man who authorities said died Friday night after suffering cardiac arrest.

Kane County Deputy Coroner Don Peterson said in a telephone interview that Joe Gabos, 50, of Aurora, died of severe coronary sclerosis, or narrowing of the arteries around the heart, compounded by the weakness of his heart from an earlier heart attack.

He was pronounced dead at Mercy Center for Health Care in Aurora following the incident, during which two paramedics were waved away from the scene by police, who were carrying Gabos down the stairs of his home.

The city's 112 firemen and paramedics went on strike last Monday morning after negotiations failed to produce a contract agreement.

"They (the paramedics) were just in our way," said police Lt. Marcel Joy, one of the officers on duty Friday night at the Gabos' home. "They were blocking the stairway. I told them just get down where they belong."

Joy also said Sunday that he didn't think police denied Gabos proper care by ordering the paramedics to leave since a registered nurse was present to assist during the incident.

"If these people (the firemen) and paramedics are so concerned about the people of Aurora, they wouldn't have walked out on them," he added.

Rates may send prices sky high

WASHINGTON — A time bomb is set to go off in the early 1980s that could send home prices sky high, and the detonator may be the new surge of high interest rates, say numerous housing experts.

Ironically, the rapidly rising interest rates are aimed at dampening inflation and reducing excessive credit that has infected most markets, including housing.

These experts, interviewed last week, believe home prices should stabilize, and in some instances, fall slightly as a result of the board's tight-money policies. But only temporarily.

For as mortgages become too expensive for most people, and completely dry up for others, the pressure for housing will intensify, ready to burst as soon as interest rates begin to decline once again.

"People in the prime home-buying ages, between 25 and 34, will increase over the next decade at about 660,000 a year," said William Young, an analyst for the National Association of Home Builders.

This is the post World War II baby-boom generation coming of age.

In recent years, they have been bedding for homes faster than builders could supply them. This helped increase housing prices 13 percent to 14 percent a year, economists say.

Castro departs, security eases

NEW YORK — Cuban President Fidel Castro left New York at dawn Sunday after a whirlwind 77 hours spent trying to cement his position as leader of the non-aligned nations and meeting Puerto Rican nationalists, congressmen and American media celebrities.

His departure also ended one of the heaviest, most expensive security webs ever woven for a visiting dignitary by New York City police and the Secret Service, who turned the four-block area around the U.N. Cuban Mission where Castro stayed in mid-Manhattan into an armed camp.

Castro and his 200-member entourage departed Kennedy International Airport at 6:04 a.m. after they were whisked from the mission under cover of darkness, flanked by dozens of police cars and Secret Service agents.

A spokesman at the Federal Aviation Administration office in Miami reported later Sunday that two Cubana Airlines jets assumed to be carrying Castro and his group had arrived safely in Havana from New York.

In what was the stated purpose of the 53-year-old Communist leader's first trip to the United States in 19 years, Castro spoke Friday to the United Nations' General Assembly as head of the 95-nation nonaligned movement.

Guideline checks tell price policies

WASHINGTON — Presidential adviser Alfred Kahn said Sunday he would "scream it to the world" if an investigation finds the large oil companies violated the administration's price guidelines.

Kahn said his office is checking pricing policies because the cost of oil and gas "seem to have increased much more than can be explained by the increase in the cost of crude oil."

"If we find widespread non-compliance, and we have not yet found it, then I think we would use our most powerful weapon, which is public opinion," Kahn said on the CBS interview program "Face The Nation."

"We found the oil companies prize above all their good name. We are prepared, if we find non-compliance, to tell the world and scream it to the world and I think that would be very effective."

CAA investigates general ed requirements

by Herb Meeker

General education requirements, which affect all students at Eastern, have been under investigation by the Council on Academic Affairs since January of this year.

Pointing out the concentration on this area, Eastern President Daniel F. Marvin said in last week's "state of the university" address, "Another academic concern is our general education requirements; a subject to which the Council on Academic Affairs has been directing its attention."

The general education requirements which the CAA is now considering are aimed toward undergraduates.

Why had the CAA decided to revise the general education requirements for Eastern?

Vice President for Academic Affairs Thomas Bond said recently there were three reasons. One, there had been no major change in the curriculum requirements for approximately five years. Secondly, these suggested changes were minimal at best. Also, some of these changes were desperately needed, yet were not already in the general education program.

The CAA received a recommendation from Bond in January, 1979 to explore the possible revision of the general education requirements.

On January 25, the CAA appointed a subcommittee to examine the general education requirements.

Assistant Vice President for Academic Affairs Margaret Soderberg said recently, "We (the subcommittee) sent out questionnaires to different departments on campus."

Deans and department chairmen were asked to call meetings to discuss the general education requirements. The student government officials were also contacted.

After these departmental meetings, a large meeting was held to include all areas of the Eastern community.

"The subcommittee members took a lot of notes, listened intently and did very little talking," Soderberg said.

At the May 4 CAA meeting, the subcommittee gave its report.

The report gave recommendations calling for a 3-hour math course, and a proficiency test for foreign language and health education (as opposed to taking the class).

The subcommittee also recommended the institution of an English proficiency test for juniors, a senior seminar course, an Alternative Education program as a substitute for the traditional requirements and an honors program.

The CAA has been discussing these proposals over the summer and fall semesters. Currently, the council is discussing individual parts of the subcommittee's proposed package.

Stephen Whitley, CAA chairman, said recently during the summer semester it was hard to go very far in the council's discussions since many CAA members were on leave and had their respective alternates in their place. Alternates had not been present at previous meetings.

Whitley said the CAA will try to continue its regular business while working on the general education requirements. This will probably delay the final decision on the requirements, he said.

In general, the alternative education program will help Eastern's enrollment since it will attract a different kind of students to the university, Bond said.

Bond has assured the CAA that his office will try to provide funds for the alternative education program if it is academically and financially feasible.

"It seems frustrating when one examines the time involved in approving the proposals, yet it prevents people making claims that the CAA is railroading the revisions through," Carol Elder, CAA member, said Monday.

Dried out

A break in a water main in the Library Quad Saturday caused water to be turned off throughout the campus. University plumbers dug this hole to get to the root of the problem which caused the quad to be flooded. Further details were not available from physical plant supervisors or workers. ## By showing spirit, fans can win traveling trophy

by Stacy Wells

Organizations will have a chance to win a traveling trophy during Homecoming spirit weeks Oct. 9 to Oct. 20, Homecoming coordinator, Julie Hellyer said.

"The idea of the contest is to get as much spirit as we can for Homecoming," Hellyer said.

Hellyer said organizations will be awarded points for the highest percentage of attendance at Homecoming events.

First place will receive 20 points, second, 10 points and third, five points, Hellyer said.

At 8 p.m. Monday in the Union addition Grand Ballroom coronation of the homecoming queen and court will be held, and Spirit points will be given for attendance, Hellyer said.

Students can also win points by attending "A Night at the Races" at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Rathskeller, Hellyer said. Students will be able to place bets on thoroughbred racing for a 25 cent admission, she added.

Hellyer said organizations will also receive points for attendance at the Jay Ferguson concert Friday.

The winner of the spirit contest will be announced at the pre-game ceremonies Saturday, Hellyer said.

For the record

In Friday's Eastern News, it was incorrectly reported that the estimated total cost of the projected Tarble Arts Center was $1.3 million. The estimated cost is $1.85 million.

The story also stated that approximately $300,000 still needed to be raised. The figure should have been $800,000.

Blood drive congratulated for its success

Eastern is still number one—at least as far as the Red Cross is concerned.

Thursday the blood drive once again surpassed their set goal for blood collection, taking in a record-setting 1,487 pints.

Eastern students are to be commended for their outstanding work with the drive—both through donations and volunteer work.

Faculty adviser to the drive Walter Lowell reported that 15 percent of Eastern students gave blood this year. He also pointed out that nationwide only three percent of eligible persons give.

So Eastern is above average in blood donation.

Students should be commended especially for their participation in this event, as last spring the drive fell 11 pints short of its 1,400 pint goal.

This seems to prove that Eastern students really are concerned about remaining the number one blood donor in the bi-state area of Missouri and Illinois.

But not only are the donors to be commended, but the numerous student volunteers who kept the drive running smoothly also deserve congratulations.

These volunteers worked in areas such as donor sign-up and donor room work, with their only compensation for their donated hours being the feeling of helping others.

Also to be commended are the volunteer nurses from the St. Louis Red Cross and the Charleston area, and the food services and churches that donated food for the drive.

It is evident that it takes hard work from many people to make a success of any venture, and all of these factors combined to make the fall blood drive a record-breaking event.

Castro has a double standard in international affairs

Cuban President Fidel Castro's criticism of the Western world, the United States in particular, points a finger at himself in international affairs.

Castro, who claims to be the leader of the politically non-aligned nations, spoke Friday to the United Nations General Assembly about hostile actions made by the U.S. and the need for a new world order.

The Cuban leader, whose neutrality has been tainted by an obvious Soviet alliance, criticized the U.S. and other Western nations for "direct and indirect collaboration in the maintenance of South Africa's criminal policy of racist repression."

But this is the same leader who sent troops to the civil war in Angola; the leader that still maintains a large number of Cuban "advisers" deeply involved with other revolutions in Africa.

Cuban involvement in the politically chaotic situation of the Third World numerous African nationals fighting for what Castro probably calls the "new world order."

Castro, in his speech, called for a new world order based on "justice, equality and peace, one that will replace the unequal system that replaces prevails today."

"Wealth," he added, "is still concentrated in the hands of a few countries whose wasteful economies are maintained by exploitation of labor and exploitation of natural resources of Africa, Latin America, and Asia."

But Cuba, through its close ties with the Soviets, is enjoying increased wealth by military and economic benefits from one of the major world powers.

He may point his finger at the West for exploitation of Third World human and natural resources, but the Soviet Union through its communist satellite countries does essentially the same thing.

Castro also condemned the U.S. and its claim to the Guantanamo Bay naval base in Cuba as "an effort to isolate the Cuban revolution" and to destroy Cuba.

But he failed to mention the buildup of tactical Soviet troops in his own country.

He failed to recognize the Americans "revolution" and its view of freedom which is threatened by a Soviet combat force in the Caribbean.

Castro also gave special attention to the Cuban-supported Puerto Rico independence movement.

He stated that the non-aligned leaders had, at a Havana conference, "reiterated their solidarity with the struggle of the Puerto Rican people and their inalienable right to self-determination, independence, and territorial integrity."

President Ford made a point in 1976 that Puerto Rico be admitted as a new state, but the Puerto Ricans, in a popular vote, rejected the proposal. The people were determined to stay at their commonwealth status in regard with their relationship with the U.S.

Castro's attempt to discredit the U.S. and Western countries in the area of international relations with the Third World was weak in substance for many of the actions he condemned, he himself has also committed.

Letter to the editor

To the donors

Editor,

To 1487 Blood Donors:

Friday I received a personal call from the blood recruitment director at the St. Louis Red Cross Blood Center. He told me the whole center was "agog" at the amount of blood brought in last evening.

He wishes to relay his thanks to all of you and to let you know that you literally "saved the day."

Because of the many industrial strikes in the St. Louis area, the collection of blood at those sites has been severely curtailed, causing a near critical shortage of blood. Hospitals were on the verge of postponing surgeries.

If any of you had any misgivings as to a "real" need for blood, feel assured that at this particular time the "gift of life" was especially appreciated.

We thank you and all those who volunteered their time and for your generous response to a worthy need.

Mrs. W. Lowell
Coles County Red Cross

Tragic fire

Editor,

My letter is in reference to the tragic fire of Oct. 7 that took the lives of three Eastern students.

I can't help but become angry when I realize that this same situation could occur to hundreds of other student dwellings throughout Charleston.

Due to the housing shortage, students have had to face in recent years, we are as a population many times forced to live in unsafe and fire prone dwellings.

If the city of Charleston through the BOCA (Building Officers Code Administration) requires smoke detectors and this is supposedly a standard code accepted throughout the country, then why in Charleston is this code limited to only new buildings?

It is unfortunate that three lives have to be lost in order to open the public's eyes to this problem. We can't change what has already happened but we sure as hell can do something to prevent it from happening again.

I urge your readers to support the smoke detector law and to voice the need of this ordinance to the city commissioner.

Let's not make the same mistake twice.

Ben Bowles

Positions open for Senate seats

Petitions for candidates for two vacant Student Senate seats will be available Monday in the Student Activities office, Speaker of the Senate Bill Mueller said Friday.

Students currently living off campus are eligible to fill the positions, Mueller said.

Mueller added the petitions should be signed by 25 off-campus students and returned to the activities office by Oct. 23.

The senate seats were vacated by senators Robert Singleton and Linda Phillips.

"There were a lot of personal reasons (for the resignation)," Singleton said. "One not-so-personal reason is how long it takes the student senate to get something done."

Singleton said Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin has absolute veto power over senate recommendations, rendering the body ineffective.

Linda Phillips could not be reached for comment.

Piano and wind recitals to be presented by faculty

by Sue Ann Rentfrow

People who enjoy listening to good musicians perform are in for a treat this week as two faculty recitals are being held.

Dewitt Tipton of the music department will present a piano recital at 8 p.m. Monday in Dvorak Concert Hall. He will be performing "Sonata in B-Flat Major, K 333" by Mozart, "Sonata in E Major, Opus 109" by Beethoven and "Miroirs" by Ravel.

Tipton said this is his first year at Eastern and he wanted to present a recital so his students could hear him perform.

Tipton said both the Mozart and Beethoven pieces express emotion. The Ravel piece is five poems that have been set to music, and he said he feels "these paint a picture of the music."

Burton Hardin will play the French horn while Gary Zwicky accompanies him on the piano at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Dvorak Concert Hall. Both men are members of the music department.

Their program will consist of "Hornkonzert (No. 3) in Es, K.V. 447" by Mozart, "Sonate" by Hindemith and "Sonata for Horn" by Mowery.

Hardin said Mowery is a freelance composer whom he met when they both attended the University of Oklahoma.

"This piece was written especially for me and this is the first time it will be performed," he added.

The Mozart piece will be played on a reproduction of an 18th century horn, Hardin said. This horn has no valves and various notes are played by placing the hand in the bell, he added.

Tipton said he received his degrees in music from Mars Hill College in North Carolina and the University of Illinois.

Hardin received his degrees in music from the University of Oklahoma and the University of Wichita.

Music faculty exchange set with Murray State

by Sue Ann Rentfrow

A music faculty exchange program will begin Monday between Murray State University in Kentucky and Eastern.

Marie Taylor, assistant professor of music from Murray State, and Catherine Smith of Eastern's music department will be exchanging places from Oct. 14-19, Rhoderick Key of the music department said.

Taylor will hold a harpsichord seminar at 4 p.m. Oct. 17 in the Fine Arts Building, Room 122. The seminar is free to the public, Key said.

During the one-week exchange, Taylor and Smith will be working with each others students. They will also present recitals, master classes and seminars, Key added.

Taylor has participated in many lecture-recitals in the quad-state area of Illinois, Kentucky, Missouri and Tennessee, Key said. She uses an authentic reproduction of a Ruckers model 18th century harpsichord, he said.

Key said Taylor represented Kentucky in the bi-centennial concert series held at the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington D.C. She has also been a featured performer for the Kentucky State Music Teachers Convention and the Kentucky Music Educators Association, he added.

Smith has participated in many faculty recitals at Eastern. She will present the same piano recital in Kentucky that she held here last Sunday, Key said.

Smith said she hopes to learn something from the exchange that she can bring back to her students. She also said she feels both her students and Taylor's will benefit from this experience.

Key said this is the first time a faculty exchange has taken place in the music department. He said it is an "excellent way to motivate and to provide enrichment" for faculty members.

Taylor will be staying in Smith's home while she is at Eastern, and Smith will stay at a faculty member's home in Kentucky.

Transportation is being paid for by the faculty development office, Key said.

Murray State and Eastern have about the same number of students and their music departments are similar, Key said. He added that he hopes to get more faculty involved with exchange programs.

Bands, dance groups highlight Fall Festival

by Cheryl Bennett

Even with a cold wind blowing, Charleston's first Fall Festival took place as planned Saturday on the square.

Rudy Anfinson, chairman of the festival, said Sunday the festival was an excellent example of cooperation between everyone involved.

"We had an excellent program yesterday and fine cooperation with Eastern, the Farm Bureau and the merchants downtown," Anfinson said.

"The only problem we had was that it was too cold," he said. "We were a little disappointed in the crowd, but we understood."

Anfinson said the main purpose of the festival was entertainment which he said was achieved.

Among yesterday's programs were a number of performers including bands and dance groups from Eastern.

Tickets available for dramatic play

by Kim Barrow

Tickets for the Homecoming Play, "The Sea," will be available from 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday at the Fine Arts Ticket Office.

Tickets will sell for $2.50 for adults, $1.50 for youth and senior citizens and $1 for Eastern students, J. Sain of the theatre department said.

Performances are at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday and Oct. 26 and 27, with a matinee at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Fine Arts Theatre, Sain said.

The play, which is written by Edward Bond, focuses on the drowning of young Collin Bentham during a violent storm and its effects upon Rose Jones, his fiancée, and Willy Carson, Colin's close friend who tried desperately to save him, director Gerald Sullivan said.

The inhabitants of the small seaside village realize through the drowning that the sea not only gives them their livelihood but also can cause their death, Sullivan said.

Among the array of personalities, a few who add humor to the play are a "mad man" called Hatch, who thinks that people from outer space are landing on Earth, plus a "posse of odd society ladies" who stage amateur theatricals, he added.

"Scattered throughout the story are hilariously funny scenes as well as very dramatic, moving scenes," Sullivan said.

The Eastern Jazz band, the modern dance club, and two disco dancers were among groups from Eastern that performed in the afternoon.

Several stands were set up around the square where area residents sold crafts such as stuffed animals and dolls, clothing jewelry and quilts.

One table displayed intricate miniature furniture that was handmade by some of Charleston's senior citizens.

Several stands were selling home-grown popcorn, honey and homemade jellies.

Local art was displayed on the first floor of the courthouse.

A string sculpture was set up on the courthouse lawn along with decorations of cornstalks and pumpkins provided by the Farm Bureau.

Anfinson said the area merchants were basically pleased with the way the festival went Saturday and want to go ahead and plan one next year.

"Wednesday everyone involved with the festival will attend an evaluation session," Anfinson said. "We will take stock with what we did this year and what we want to do next year. But most of all we will improve on what we did and have a better festival for next year," he said.

Rainfall creates problems with drainage

by Carolyn Waller

Puddles from rainfall on Eastern's campus create a drainage problem on sidewalks and in the Student Services parking lot, Everett Alms, physical plant supervisor, said.

"The sidewalks were installed too low," Alms said.

Alms said the sidewalks were installed before he came to Eastern and he could not give any contractors' names.

He added that all they can do now is roll the grass and "just live with it."

Alms said seven parking lots on campus were asphalted this summer but only the Student Services Building lot has drainage problems.

"I guess we shouldn't have asphalted it," Alms said.

However, he said it still is an improvement over the condition of last year's lot.

He added that the concrete that was already there caused the problem and the asphalt machine couldn't compensate for the various levels of concrete in the lot.

Alms said, "it was not the contractor's fault."

Alms said the maintenance staff will try solving the drainage problem by chipping away asphalt around the drain in the lot.

However, he added that it was a low priority on the repair list.

Birth control. Now it's as simple as this.

At last, Encare.®
Neat, compact, no bigger than your fingertip, Encare is fast becoming the most talked about contraceptive we have today.

Free from hormonal side effects, Encare is available without a prescription. And it might well be the easiest method of birth control you will ever use.

Simply simple.
You simply insert Encare with the tip of your finger. There's no iffy measuring, no tubes, no applicators. And no messy paraphernalia to clean up afterward. Each tiny insert contains an exact, premeasured amount of the clinically proven spermicide, nonoxynol 9.

Simply effective.
Very simply, Encare works by neutralizing sperm. When used properly, Encare melts and gently effervesces, spreading within your vagina for protection against pregnancy.

Even under very rigorous testing conditions, Encare's spermicide was found to be highly effective.

Simply safe.
And if you ask your gynecologist about Encare, you'll be reassured to hear that Encare cannot harm your body the way the pill or IUD might. Which means, you simply won't be worried about those complications.

For maximum protection, it is essential that you read and follow directions carefully and, if indicated, consult your physician. No birth control method is guaranteed to prevent pregnancy.

Eastern freshman ignores pain in 57-mile run

Freshman Randy Marucco finally reached the city limits of Charleston after running 57 miles from Decatur last week. (News photo by Gregory Moore)

by Kathy Dwyer

Some people may feel that the 57 mile distance between Decatur and Charleston plus 9½ hours of running would add up to pain, but Eastern freshman Randy Marucco isn't one of them.

Eighteen-year old Marucco set off from Decatur at 5 a.m. a week ago Sunday, running at a pace that would eventually find him at Charleston's city limits at about 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

Marucco decided to run from Decatur to Charleston after running to Mattoon and back last Thursday. "If I had thought about it (the 57 mile run) twice, I probably wouldn't have done it," he said.

Marucco ran solidly for the first 26 miles of the distance. At the point, he continued on, but walked ½ mile in between running for 10-mile intervals.

"I just wanted to see if I could do it," Marucco said. "I'm hoping to compete in the Boston Marathon in 1981, so I wanted to be sure that I could run the 26 miles."

Marucco appeared to withstand the experience better than his new Nikes, which ended up with half the tread they started with.

Although it was slightly cold in the morning, the weather was good for running, he said. Marucco did little to protect himself against the elements, keeping only "a quarter in my sock in case of an emergency."

Due to a desire to work on his grades this semester, Marucco did not try out for cross country. He hopes to qualify for the two-mile run event or Eastern's track team in the spring.

Marucco began running in eighth grade, and continued with it though high school, where he competed with the Lakeview High School track team in Decatur. Marucco's favorite event was the two-mile relay, achieving his best time in the 880 with 2:00 flat.

While in high school, Marucco would run to outlying towns on weekends some 13 miles from Decatur. "I've always loved running long distances," he said.

New England routs Bears 27-7

CHICAGO AP — Steve Grogan hurred three touchdown passes, two of them in the first period following fumbles by Walter Payton and Robin Earl, to lead the New England Patriots to a 27-7 National Football League victory Sunday over the Chicago Bears.

Grogan hit Stanley Morgan with a 10-yard touchdown pass, then followed with a 19-yard strike to Harold Jackson in the first quarter and clinched the game with a 4-yard scoring pass to Russ Francis in the fourth.

Pirates stay alive with 7-1 rout in Game Five

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bill Madlock ripped four hits and Tim Foli drove in three runs as the Pittsburgh Pirates, battling to stay alive, defeated the Baltimore Orioles 7-1 Sunday in Game Five of the 1979 World Series.

The victory left the Pirates still trailing the best-of-seven Series 3-2 but forced the teams back to Baltimore for a sixth game Tuesday night. Game

Seven, if needed, would be played Wednesday night.

The Pirates had hoped to start Bert Blyleven in Game Six, but that plan was changed when Manager Chuck Tanner brought him out of the bullpen Sunday for his first relief appearance since 1972. Blyleven allowed three hits over the final four innings to complete a six-hitter. Jim Rooker had pitched the first five innings and left the game trailing 1-0.

The Pirates came up with two-run innings in the sixth and seventh to turn the game around. The catalysts in both rallies were the slap-hitting Foli and slugger Dave Parker.

Then Pittsburgh sealed the victory with a three-run eighth built around Madlock's fourth single of the game and a bases-loaded, two-out two-run single by Foli.

Mike Flanagan, winner of Game One in this Series, had the Pirates shut out over the first five innings and was leading 1-0 on a run the Orioles scratched off Rooker in the fifth.

Field hockey squad splits in weekend action

by Theresa Norton

Eastern's field hockey team played below par Friday and won, and performed well Saturday but lost.

In the 2-1 victory over Eastern Michigan University Friday at home, Eastern "didn't play well, but won because Michigan was much weaker," coach Betty Temple said.

Eastern was losing at the half Friday, but came back to tie the score when sophomore Peg Moore assisted senior Ruth Geggus on a goal in the second half.

The game's winning goal was scored by junior Nancy Scappa, on assists from Geggus and senior Donna Gale.

Temple cited freshman Colleen Fletcher as "playing a good game. She's been improving all the time."

Saturday the team traveled to Edwardsville to face Southwest Missouri State, but lost 4-0.

"It was a matter of being out-classed," Temple said. "We played well, but you can't win if you can't get inside the circle to shoot."

SWMO took 31 shots on goal Saturday, while Eastern attempted only eight.

"SWMO was a well-skilled team. They didn't hold back. They went to the ball, fielded well and used the entire field," Temple said.

But Temple said the team showed marked improvement over its last few games.

"We played better than we had been, but SWMO was just better than us," she said.

The weekend activities brought Eastern's season record to 7-5-1.

The junior varsity team also played well against SWMO Saturday, but lost 1-0 in an "evenly matched game," Temple said.

Tuesday the field hockey squad travels to Edwardsville once more, this time to face Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville at 6:30 p.m. in what Temple termed "the biggest match of the year."

"This is game one of a three-game series, but I think we can beat them," Temple said.

well when he beats Casey (Reinking), the 5,000 meter record-holder," Woodall said.

"It was really a super effort," he said. "It was by far the best he's ever run. His whole season has been a 100 percent improvement over last year."

Kim Sprain of Northern Iowa was fifth in 24:42 with the Panther's Mike Viano not far behind in 24:45. Mark Feyereisen of Northern Iowa rounded out the top seven who automatically are named all-conference.

Viano's sixth place finish was a drastic improvement over last week's Notre Dame Invitational. In that meet Viano placed 66th after being the Panther's No. 1 man at the mile mark. "He had a much better race than at Notre Dame," Woodall said.

Bob Feller was the fifth finisher for Eastern placing 11th in 25:05. "He ran his fastest time for this course," Woodall said. "It was a 2,000 percent improvement over Notre Dame."

Running No. 6 for the Panthers was Mike Moore, who finished 12th in 25:17. "He had a very bad cold, but he's such an inspiration to the team,"

Woodall said. "He gave a very excellent account of himself."

Overall, Woodall was very pleased with the efforts of his squad. "Each man really contributed to the victory," he said. "They were good times for the wind. They (Northern Iowa) are a very good team."

Woodall cited inexperience as a factor for some of the younger runners not finishing higher. "Some of our people on down the line were very inexperienced," he said. "Some of them were a little bit uptight."

Senior Pat Hodge was 17th in 25:32, freshman Tim Warneke placed 18th in 25:38, Phil Lockwood finished 19th in 25:48 and Jim Scruton was 21st in 26:20.

Eastern alum Casey Reinking managed a second place finish in the Mattoon 10,000 meter run Saturday morning. His time of 30:30 was only 14 seconds off the winning pace set by Dave Hoover of Champaign. Junior Jase Travis was third with a time of 31:00 and alum Ken Burke of Mattoon was fourth in 31:25.

MCC player sets national record

Kelly Ellis rushed for an all-time single game collegiate record 382 yards Saturday to lead Northern Iowa to a 38-25 Mid-Continent Conference football victory over Western Illinois.

Ellis rushed 40 times and to break the record of 373 yards set by Dallas Garber of Marietta College in 1959.

Kelly also bettered the best previous single game total by a MCC player in any game. Eastern's Poke Cobb set the mark of 202 yards last year against Wayne State.

In Saturday's other MCC contest, Youngstown State stayed atop the league standings by squeezing past Northern Michigan 24-12.

In a non-conference game, Akron topped Eastern Michigan 24-12.

Championships

Harriers outduel UNI for conference title...

by Matt Davidson

Eastern's men's cross country squad successfully defended its Mid-Continent Conference championship Saturday by edging out Northern Iowa 24-32 in the five-team field.

Even though there were five entries, the meet turned out more like a dual between Eastern and Northern Iowa. Western Illinois finished a distant third with 124 points. Northern Michigan nailed down fourth with 139 points and Youngstown State rounded out the entrants with 163.

Eastern and Northern Iowa proved they were the class of the meet by taking top 19 places. Only Western's Don Burns could break into the top 20 as he placed 20 in 25:57.

Leading the way for the Panthers was senior Joe Sheeran who took home individual honors in the meet with a time of 24:22. Teammate Larry Schuldts was second in 24:34.

Sheeran's performance convinced coach Tom Woodall the three-time All-American is back from last year's knee injury. "Joe is looking like the good old Joe," he said. "He stole the race."

The first two miles of the race were hotly contested between several Eastern and Northern Iowa runners, but shortly thereafter Sheeran started to pull away.

"It was around the 2½ (mile mark) that I made my move," Sheeran said. "We were going to move as a team, but that guy from Northern Iowa moved out so fast."

Woodall praised Schuldts for picking up the slack due to the absence of Reo Rorem, who was ill, and Chuck Elliot, who has a bad foot.

Northern Iowa's Todd Peverill was third in 24:35 followed by Eastern junior Terry Donahue, who ran a 24:39 in his best race at Eastern.

a surprise when you consider he was our No. 1 man at the Notre Dame Open meet. "You know he's running (See HARRIERS page 10)

...and volleyballers breeze to invitational crown

by Jane Meyer

Eastern's volleyball team overwhelmed favored Wright State 15-16, 15-4 and 15-5 Saturday to win the championship of the Eastern invitational at McAfee Gym.

En route to the win, Eastern defeated Southeast Missouri, Bradley University and Indiana State.

Wright State was undefeated throughout the competition until the title bout, while Eastern lost a 17-15 first round game against Bradley earlier.

During the final match of the day, Eastern allowed Wright State no more than six points at any one game in the match.

"Their No. 14 was doing a job on us," coach Lynette Nevins said. "When it got to be 11-6 during the last game I think our momentum was down. It was a crucial point of the game."

"We served tough though and that was a big key in leading us to the win," she added.

Nevins said that Eastern's win came partly because of the changes the Wright State had to make because of Eastern's defense.

"Wright State runs a fast offense, but their trouble was that we were shutting them out," Nevins said. "That's why they had to go to a slower offense which didn't work for them."

Nevins said that win was even a bigger victory than their upset win at the Southern Illinois-Carbondale Invitational three weeks ago.

"It was bigger because after losing last weekend in the Missouri-St. Louis Invitational we really didn't have that much confidence," Nevins said, "Now they've got it and they know it."

Nevins said that good individual performances by Mary Martello, Karen Kiester, Kathy Schoene and Maryann Seiwert paved the way for the wins.

"Martello did a super job. She's been sick all week and practiced only once with the team yet she came through," Nevins said.

"Seiwert was tremendous at center blocking and 'Tree' (Schoene) did a super job blocking," she added, "I'd like to give them all credit. It was a total team effort."

In a regular season match on Friday afternoon, Eastern took a three game set 15-12, 15-8 and 15-1 from Eastern Michigan.

In first round invitational action, Bradley battled to a 17-15 first game win, but then Eastern returned to take 15-9 and 15-6 wins.

Saturday morning action held little competition for the Panthers as they collected 15-5 and 15-11 wins from Southeast Missouri State and 15-1 and 15-7 wins from Indiana State's B-team.

Nevins said that Bradley provided the most competition previous to the Wright State matchup while SEMO and ISU were handled easily.

Eastern which now has a 17-2 record will be playing in the St. Louis Invitational on Friday and Saturday.
